WINE EXPERTS

Fento Wines are made with sustainably farmed grapes grown in Condado de Tea, which is the second largest sub-zone of Rias Baixas (and is also the furthest away from the coast). It has the warmest temperatures and the driest from rainfall. The soils here are rich with varying degrees of mica, granite and slate. All grapes at this bodega are harvested by hand with selection carried out on the vine.

WINEMAKER'S TASTING NOTES

This Albariño offers fresh aromas of white peach, apricot, citrus fruits and jasmine. The warm climate produces grapes that are ripe and juicy. The finished wine has a rich, silky body with refreshingly elegant acidity.
